

Volunteer Research Assistant for Equality in Tourism International

Equality in Tourism is a very small charity focused on gender, tourism and development. We are keen to be the place to go to for current thinking on the issues that we are committed to.

We are looking for someone who is able to give us a few hours a week who can source, read, and summarize into accessible format materials that are being produced about Gender Equality and Tourism. Many new academic and non academic articles are written on these every year. We would like to be able to share this as widely as possible in a form that makes sense outside academia. This would mean searching grey as well as academic literature.

We are seeking someone who would like to enhance their research and communication skills. The summaries would need to be in an accessible format.

The role would be valuable for someone who wishes to enhance their research and communication skills and who is perhaps a student with access to academic articles. The role would be supervised by Equality in Tourism's small team.

We are seeking a reliable, proactive and dedicated person who is committed to gender and development, who has fluent English and who will be able to work with us to enable us to achieve our goals. We offer you flexibility to work around your own time constraints.

To apply please contact tricia@equalityintourism.org